GAUDI-JUJOL, THE MEDITERRANEAN IN LA PEDRERA

This documentary reveals lesser-known aspects of La Pedrera and the close collaboration between Gaudí and Jujol. Through preserved drawings, it uncovers the technical and artistic innovations behind the building's design. Far from typical Modernism, the work represents a bold new artistic vision. With the 2026 Gaudí centenary approaching, this film offers timely insight into a unique architectural legacy, highlighting striking features like wrought iron balconies, plaster ceilings, rooftop chimneys, and sculptural interior details.

THE LAST TRACES OF THE NEANDERTHAL

This emotional documentary explores recent discoveries that redefine our understanding of Neanderthals, especially in the Iberian Peninsula—their last known refuge. Through cutting-edge archaeology, DNA analysis, and 3D technology, it reveals their symbolic thought, burial practices, and interaction with modern humans. Sites in Spain, Portugal, and Gibraltar bring us closer to our ancient relatives, but one question remains: why did they vanish? A gripping journey into human history led by a new generation of scientists.

THE TIGER AND THE GUITAR

The Way of the Samurai Guitarist Yoichiro Yamada, a Japanese man captivated by flamenco, left everything behind to become a guitarist in Spain. Living two decades there—many years homeless—he refused to return home, believing he had failed his mission. Guided by a deep sense of honor and passion, his life became a poetic tragedy. This documentary retraces his journey, exploring the bond between flamenco and identity, the meaning of artistic devotion, and how Yamada's spirit lives on through his guitars and legacy.

WHEN HAIR WAS LONG AND SHORTS WERE SHORT

This documentary follows Aitor Francesana, a surfer who defied his blindness to become world champion in adapted surfing. From sneaking his first wave as a child with glaucoma to coaching and competing at high levels, Aitor's story mirrors the evolution of surfing itself—from counterculture to Olympic sport. Featuring historic interviews, stunning beaches, and new generations of surfers, the film is a tribute to resilience, passion, and the enduring connection between surfing and the sea.

IMPROWAY: ANOTHER WAY OF LIVING MUSIC

Professional pianist Lute Domínguez has created IMPROWAY, an innovative gestural method that allows anyone to make music in real time. Practiced at a public music school in Getafe, this approach uses hand movements to simplify traditional notation. The documentary follows a diverse group of students preparing for a concert in six months, showcasing how music creation can be accessible to all. It also features workshops in conservatories and reactions from renowned musicians encountering the method for the first time.

FC BARCELONA WOMEN

In an unprecedented look behind the scenes, we follow the players of FC Barcelona throughout the 2024–25 season, as they pursue a historic decade of dominance in Liga F, Copa de la Reina, and the Champions League — a legacy that began when the team turned professional in 2015.

This is the story of the team that has ruled the most prestigious and demanding competition in world football for the past five years. But it is also the story of what it means to lead — and to carry the burden of being pioneers. The pressure now comes from all sides: rivals, fans, journalists, directors, even teammates — and above all, from within. At Barça, the standard isn't just to win — but to win beautifully. The style is sacred. For the first time, and exclusively, the players of FC Barcelona reveal how blazing the trail to becoming the world's best team has transformed their lives — forever.
